Freelance Journalists Wanted for Patch.com

Patch.com (coming soon!) is looking for freelance reporters/multimedia storytellers with strong news judgment to cover:

Breaking News in your area;
Courts;
Politics and government;
Business and development;
Features;
The Arts;
Schools;
Sports;
and more.

We are also looking for:

A freelance sports editor.

A freelance weekly columnist to focus on issues. (Please pitch column idea in Cover Letter)

A freelance daily calendar editor.

We are seeking reporters that are adept at online storytelling, as reporters will produce stories with links to relevant online resources, upload photos or videos, and engage with readers who comment on stories.

The ideal candidates are based in the city or nearby.

Candidates will pitch ideas as well as cover assigned stories.

Before you apply, please read our terms of agreement and privacy policy. Our verification process will ask time based questions, please familiarize yourself: <http://PatchTOS.blogspot.com/>

Payment ranges from $50 to $200 or more, depending on the length of the story and the reporting time involved.

For consideration, please send a cover letter addressed to Allison Esposito-Strzyzewski, stating a beat/topic you would be interested in covering for Patch.com, with relevant clips (including links to multimedia work, if available) and a résumé.

Looking for opinionated female writers / editors

The Weekly Vice is now looking to add two new positions to our publishing team.

The Weekly Vice is one of the fastest growing, most addictive crime/nutty news web-blogs in it's genre.

We publish memorable content with an opinionated edge that our readership loves. We do not publish moderated, white-washed nonsense news that no one will remember or talk about. Read our site for one week and you'll see why our readership is strong, active and just as dedicated to reading your articles as you will be writing them.

What I need is a dependable female writer who's not afraid to inject some opinion and passion into her articles. Who is not afraid to develop her fan base and appreciates 15,000 readers or so coming to read her articles each day.

We are looking to fill two positions. A Writer position and a Social Media Editor position.

If this opportunity seems just what you had in mind, contact Danny Vice directly. dannyvice@live-dot-com

Food Website Needs Writers

Company: <http://www.MyKitchenVault.com>

Contact: Ingredient Review Department Heather Supler Lovsurf@ao l.com

Our main focus is that we have the first user friendly recipe search that allows users to enter the ingredients from their kitchen into a search that tells them which recipes they can make. Our second focus is our Ingredient Review. Writers will be paid to write articles about food in this section.

Job:

We are looking for writers who love food and want to write about exciting ingredients, specific ingredient categories, or interesting cooking procedures for normal day to day ingredients. We are wanting writers to write informative blog style articles. The articles must be informative.

If published, we are paying $5 for every Ingredient Review. We are also paying 50% of the advertising revenue to our writers. So, you will get paid to write the article and you will get paid every time for every 1000 visitors to your pages. This amount always changes due to our sponsors.

All articles must be unique to be eligible for our Ingredient Review. We will be cross checking for plagiarism, and you will be blacklisted without question if you enter another persons work.

You can write about anything, but try to do a quick search on our website to see if the topic has already been used. It is important to write in short paragraphs and use many keywords in your writing. This is why we ask that your articles are informative. We will not be accepting articles from people that ramble on about nothing. The articles must have good content tell a story and give information.

All articles must have more than 300+ words. If you would like to be one of our writers please contact Heather at the email address above. DO NOT respond to the craigslist ad via the craigslist email. We will not be responding to these.

This must be your subject: Review Department

Blog/informative writing style is a must. 80% informative and 20% blog.

If you would like to write for <http://www.MyKitchenVault.com> , please read some articles and submit your Ingredient Review to the email address. We will publish all articles that have quality content. When we publish your article we will start you a Google AdSense account to track your earnings.
