Writers Wanted

Are you in love with the written word like I am? Are you confused about where to start to get your writing "out there"? Pond Ripples E-zine (PondRipplesMag.com) does not discriminate between published and unpublished authors. Pond Ripples is a non paying gig, but you can include your email address and website in your bio. You will also be able to say, "Yes! I am a published author." Visit PondRipplesMag.com/Submission-Guidelines for more information.

Writers Needed for Antiques Topics (telecommute)

Are you passionate about Antique Chandeliers, Desk Antiques, Antique Lamps, Reproduction Antiques, or even an Antique Appraiser yourself? Promote your expertise on Experts123 by writing expert articles, while also earning a competitive revenue share based on traffic that you receive to your articles. There are also pay-per-article titles available for writers with excellent quality submissions that have a pay range of $8 to $12 or higher per article.

If you own an antique business or are an appraiser, you can promote your services or other offerings from your expert profile, which includes optional areas for adding your business contact information, website URLs, related experience and more.

Write for your column as often as you choose and at your own pace.

screenwriter for collaboration (Knoxville)

I have a well developed mostly written story, "New Beginnings" I took two years of screenwriting at Columbia in Chicago, attended film seminars and a workshop.

Life has been busy and I really would like a sounding board, partner and willing to split any future profits. I feel very confident that John Travolta will be very interested in the project and either finance it or find someone to finance. It is not a Big Budget film...so that's a plus! I think that Drew Barrymore and Bret Michaels would like to be part of it too!

Hope to hear from someone soon...if it's not you...SEND SOMEONE my way PLEASE...Thank you, thank you very much!

Environmental writer (Knoxville)

Looking for writers with strong ideas and lots of conviction to help start a website concerning environmental education. Our website will be locally managed and will cover ideas such as impacts of technology and industrialism, ideas for living green, preservation of resources, travel, and everywhere in between and beyond.

Unfortunately, this is not a paid position for you or I, just an effort to promote what is right. Any and all articles will be considered for publication as long as they are clear and concise and bear some stance on the environment.

Interested persons should contact bancoalmining@yahoo.com. Hope to hear from you soon.
