Experienced Webinar/E-commerce Specialist (East Tennessee)

Hi, we are a group of marketing specialists putting together a startup company. We are looking to develop a webinar/simulcast system to broadcast business and non-profit leaders from around the country on our website. We need to setup an e-commerce system that allows website users to pay membership fees to access these webinars and recordings. We are offering tiered packages for the memberships.

Currently we are looking for specialists or local firms that could help us set this up. If you have experience doing this or know the who's and how-to's to set this up, we would love to glean your expertise. We're asking for free advice for now, as we are doing our initial research, but this very soon could possibly lead to contract work or profit share to whoever could give us advice on how to pursue this. Something more sophisticated than PayPal and Skype. We have a Web specialist already so don't need designers/html programmers. Just people who have experience doing paid webinars.

Web Development Internship (Knoxville, TN)

Pyxl, a Knoxville marketing services and design firm with a growing portfolio of local and national clients, is seeking a web development intern who thrives on working in a collaborative, team-focused workplace. The Pyxl Web Development Intern Program was created to expose upperclassmen or recent graduates majoring in Design/Development fields to applied web design/development. The internship will look at web design and development in a variety of forms and will show how these skills are used in the larger business marketplace.

Working under Pyxl's Technical Lead, the intern will be actively involved in all aspects of web development currently in process. The intern will observe and take part in a fast-paced team environment where everyone is passionate about what they do. Think Pyxl if you are interested in gaining work experience while expanding your exposure to a variety of web development methods used in digital marketing campaigns.

This internship requires a minimum of 20 hours per week commitment for at least 12 weeks. Compensation will come in the form of a monthly stipend. Pyxl is a Mac shop and applicants with experience using Adobe Creative Suite, HTML/CSS, Javascript, PHP/MySQL and web applications have a headstart and are encouraged to apply.

To apply: Please email chuckaby@thinkpyxl.com if you are intrested and please include a resume and a portolio of any development or design work you have done.

Wed Designer/Programmer Needed (Knoxville)

If you are a good designer/programmer – both front end and back end – and have got time on your hands, then you might be interested in our offer.

Some people are good at certain things. We are good at marketing and ideas, but lacking in technical. You might be great in technical and not so much in ideas or marketing.

Maybe we can help each other. We'll do the idea part and you do the tech part and it will be a great combination.

We are a startup - but have a great idea. All we need is a good designer/programmer.

If you are interested in a part of the future income with us, drop us a line with some examples of your capabilities and work.

So there is no money right off the bat, but maybe you can convert your free time into future money.

Sound like something you are interested in, then email us now.

Solutions Architect - Scripps Networks (Knoxville, TN)

The solutions architect is a member of the enterprise architecture group, and is under the general direction of the Director of Enterprise Architecture. The definition of solutions architecture, in this context, is "defining solutions for business problems" that are in-line with the enterprise's target-state architecture. The focus for this solutions architect is two-fold; first its working with and becoming a member of the User Experience (UX) team, and second it's working with the .Net development team.

Solutions will contain future-state representations of information, application and infrastructure architecture in the areas of UX and .Net. This solutions architect role will facilitate the development of the target-state architecture and roadmaps for UX. They will need to work closely with business analysts, systems administrators, network administrators, security, developers, dba's, and other solutions architects to coordinate a solution. This list of duties is not exhaustive, and may be added, deleted or changed at any time, without notice.

Formulate the solution by creating a solutions structure that balances the goals of the business requirements and the constraints on the project; including strategic IT plans. Develop architecture artifacts including information architecture and interactive design in differing states; current, future and target. Supporting various teams by participating as a member of their team, pulling tasks, running or participating in spike solutions. Including: The user experience team; The .Net development team; The portal configuration team Enable cross functional communications by modeling and vetting the future state architecture models with all participating organizations. Lead the technology evaluation and adoption of new UX tools and infrastructure; like portal and business process management. Manage the engineering feedback loop into enterprise architecture. Develop the domain designs within an agile (Scrum) process, and create the interoperability models between the UX and core teams. Facilitate the interactions between designers, developers, and those that develop and configure the portal. Perform other duties as needed and as directed by supervisor.

Requirements: Education: Bachelor degree in Computer Science, User Experience, Business Information Systems, or other information technology oriented major is a must; graduate work and graduate degrees are a definite plus. Experience: A minimum of 4 years experience as a Solutions Architect or lead developer, and at least 8 years of experience in the IT industry is a must. Needs to be able to demonstrate a solid background in interactive design and information architecture, across differing UI platforms. The candidate experience must prove them an expert in the Microsoft development stack. The candidate should be able to effectively communicate a solid understanding of service oriented architecture, Event Driven Architecture, and domain modeling. Any experience with Media Systems is a definite plus. Technology: Must have expertise in the Microsoft development stack including Silverlight, SharePoint, Visual Studio, WCF, WIF, and Biztalk; while showing a working knowledge of the rest of the Microsoft stack. The candidate must have a working knowledge of all UI frameworks and a knowledge of web development including; HTML, JavaScript, CSS, XML, JSON and XQuery. The candidate should show knowledge in user experience modeling and simulation tools. Skills/Abilities: Must have a solid understanding of the basic EA concepts, and EA theory. Candidate needs the ability to lead spike solutions, and the ability to plan and accomplish goals within a cross functional team environment. Candidate must be able to influence others and be able to demonstrate peer leadership skills. Candidate needs to be able to communicate effectively with business owners and stack-holders, and be able to model a user experience so the business owner can understand while enabling collaboration. Candidate must possess excellent written, verbal, and interpersonal skills.
