DIRECTOR SEEKING FEATURE LENGTH DRAMATIC SCREENPLAY (Vancouver)

Hello. Our production company is branching out from short films, and looking to produce our first feature. We're currently looking for a feature length dramatic script. We have a great up-and-coming director looking to expand his portfolio, and we want to make something with a high production value to submit to all the major festivals with distribution as our ultimate goal. We are specifically looking for a script that HAS ALREADY BEEN WRITTEN, and that may be sitting on your shelf, gathering dust, waiting for an enthusiastic group of individuals to bring it to life. We can't offer money up front for the script, but would be happy to offer a percentage of the project should it sell. If you're a writer that's in the same boat as us, and are looking to expand your portfolio, please send us a copy of your screenplay to threewaymedia@gmail.com. Unfortunately, we can't get back to everyone who submits a screenplay, but if your script is what we're looking for, we'll definitely get in touch with you.

Specifically, we're looking for something dramatic, gritty, real, offbeat, contemporary, with an edge and a statement, and which can be shot on a reasonable budget.

Other films which come to mind are:

- FIGHT CLUB
- REQUIEM FOR A DREAM
- AMORRES PERROS
- RUN LOLA RUN

Please send us your story if you're interested in joining a passionate and hardworking team.

Cheers!

Aspiring/Experienced Visual Art Writer/Critic Wanted for Review (Vancouver)

I've had many reviews of group exhibitions I've participated in, but reviews of my work independently have at best been sparse and short.

To get the ball rolling, I'm looking to hire an experienced or aspiring academic arts writer to review some of my work.

Though I will allow for creative license, you should be familiar with the kind of writing found in ArtForum/Canadian Art magazines.

Ideally the candidate is looking to have their work published, and sees this as an opportunity to make some money while doing what they enjoy, and getting their name out there.

Compensation is negotiable, and based on your experience, and the length/quality of what's written.

Please email me with a sample of your writing, as well as a single sentence summary of your academic background and a ballpark figure of how much you might expect to be paid.

Thanks.

Voice talent seeks script writer for collaboration (anywhere)

I am a professional (radio trained) voice talent (with many years experience) seeking to collaborate with a good radio script writer to produce a series of syndicable commercial radio shows. Open to all sorts of concepts and ideas with a bottom line of making some coin for both of us. You'll be putting the words into my mouth, so to speak. I realize that a good script writer can make a great show as you also realize that a great voice can do the same. Why it's almost symbiotic. This is a link to some of my most recent work in the form of one of a series of podcasts I conceptualized, scripted, voiced and produced in my home studio.

<http://rmsthepodcaster.com/wp-content/uploads/2010/06/012-Little-Sisters-Talk-Jun-4-10.mp3>

If this interests you, feel free to get back to me. I'm in Vancouver, you can be anywhere in the world with an internet connection or if you happen to be in the lower mainland area, let's go old school and just call me...we can talk.

Wanted a Movie Script

Here is the deal we are looking to make a movie! We have a couple of high end Canon professional video cameras. We have never made a complete movie yet we are willing to put some time in to making an Indie movie. We won't promise money, it's a take a chance on us situation. We are film actors who want to try our hand at making a film. We are looking for an original story with a script. Something character generated in the way of a comedy,drama etc.. We are looking for a film script that does not require special effects or expensive scene changes and props. It's a micro budget film, a nice way of saying we have very little money to work with. If you feel you have such a script that you would like made into a movie give us an email we would like to meet you and look it over.

Zombie Short Film Contest (Vancouver)

There is an upcoming Zombie Short Movie contest at the Rio Theatre in Vancouver Aug. 20th. The deadline for submissions has been extended until Aug. 13th to submit a finished film. It must be no longer than 5 pages long.

I have written a Short Zombie script and would like to enter it in the contest at the Rio (<http://riotheatre.ca/events/>).

It has 2 locations, a City Park and a Parking lot for the Park. In the Park there needs to be a bench, a light over the bench and 2 flowerbeds. Actually one could pass for two. It has only four actors. 2 humans and 2 Zombies. Also need a car that is a convertible.

Anyone still looking for a script please contact Dale at santadale@shaw.ca and I will send the script.

Thanks

Popular Vancouver Lifestyle + Culture Blog Seeks Writers/Columnists (Vancouver)

Hello Candidate!

We are successful Vancouver based lifestyle and culture blog, who has been actively documenting youth culture for the past two years. We already have a team of artists and photographers, but we are looking to expand to satisfy our readership's thirst for editorial content. We are looking for more writers to join our team.

So far our work has been published/linked to from sites such as Pitchfork.com, NME.com, NYpost.com, and Spin.com. We have also had our work published in Color Magazine, Style Canvas, and this months Discorder magazine.

We started this blog to give ourselves a platform and audience to show our work. We would like to extend this platform to you! We have a need for great writers who are opinionated, have great taste (in everything from film, music, art, style), and are keen to use such a platform to begin their writing careers off with a bang! and no restrictions!

We are looking for regular once a week contributions. So if you're young + hungry + keen to get your work out there, then get at us!

Here are some topics that we would ask you to write about:

- Editorials/opinion pieces
- Music + Concerts reviews
- Restaurant/Boutique/Shopping reviews
- Vancouver/Toronto related Fiction writing
- Fashion/style pieces

Please send us a short sample of your writing with your response.

Fashion writer needed for blog

I am in need of a female fashion writer to help write for a fashion blog I am producing. Your duties will include conducting interviews of local designers and searching out local trends in Vancouver. The blog itself isn't intended for high fashion but for everyday styles and trends.

You will also be required to do field work which means getting out and conducting interviews as mentioned above. You will meet with designers, shop owners, models and photographers to get a great idea of what makes Vancouver a unique fashion center for the west coast of North America.

I am looking more for a fashion junky rather than a professional writer, but if you're both great. Regular posts are a must at least 2 written and 1 video (video can be a webcam post).

I will be producing the blog which means if you need or want to shoot somewhere I will arrange it. If you want to interview a celebrity I will call their agent etc.

Please send me a paragraph sample of some writing. I do not need to mention that plagiarists will be detected and discarded.

The blog itself has not been launched and is in test phase so any design up is subject to change.

Writing & Information Design (Vancouver/Surrey)

Are you a passionate writer who has an interest in information architecture?
Do you inject strategy into your writing process?
Do you understand the concept of "The User Experience"?
Perhaps you are familiar with the concept of "Usability"?

Hello,

I'm a Web Interface Designer.

That means I strive to create easy to use websites, which cause the reader to 'act'. I believe good, functional design is the marriage of great visuals, sound strategy and engaging copy. I'm hoping that you're nodding your head in agreement...

I am currently working on two non-paid projects, which I wish to complete with a strategic writer. My goal is to use these projects to provide potential clients with samples of the calibre of our work and promote our services for paid work.

Interested?

In your reply, please BRIEFLY explain your perspective on ONE of the following:

1. Information architecture
2. The user experience
3. Strategy & the writing process

I look forward to hearing from you.

Local Writers only please.

Only those shortlisted will be contacted.

Article Writers Wanted (Anywhere)

We are a new magazine being published and distributed here in the Lower Mainland. Our focus is on relationships, dating, Internet dating, matters of the heart, relationship/dating tips and advice, and all other things related to finding and or keeping your one true love. Our demographic is both men and women (yes, it will be a challenge to write for both). The spirit of the magazine is fun, playful, informational and entertaining, while at the same time maintaining credibility and authority.

We are seeking up-and-coming writers who would like to contribute a related article to the first issue. Compensation is currently limited to $25/article plus 2 copies of the published issue. Word count should be no less than 1500. You will be fully and properly credited for your effort and there is currently an opportunity to create a regular column for yourself.

To be considered, please submit a SAMPLE of your writing along with a brief outline of your writing experience and the proposed subject/topic you would like to write about.

DO NOT SUBMIT ACTUAL ARTICLES. Unsolicited articles in your email message will result in immediate deletion and black-listing of your email address. DO NOT SUBMIT ACTUAL ARTICLES.

Everyone who replies will be contacted. Should we be interested in your proposed subject/topic and should your writing style be in keeping with the mood and spirit of the magazine, we will let you know how to proceed.

Thank you and we look forward to hearing from you!

Describe your a-Ha! Moment (Anywhere)

I am looking for writers who have a unique a-ha! moment story to share. You may be in a creative field, or you may not.

I have a blog that gathers A-ha! moment stories as a way to invite dialogue. There's no money in it, although at some point, I am going to seek professional advice as to how to increase exposure.

Feedback welcome! The website is:

creative writer needed to write band bio

We're looking for a writer to write us a short band bio.
Tried many times our selves but just can't seem to hit it on the head.

we're looking for something witty, attention grabbing and slightly funny.

check out the band if interested:
www.myspace.com/wehuntbuffalo

unfortuantly we can't pay you because we're a broke-ass indie band if you dig what we're doing however and would like to help out, we can definetly shower you with passes to upcoming shows and cd's!

all the best

Personal assistant to a poet - no attachments plz. (Hastings-Sunrise)

Yeah, I do need a personal assistant. Since being a poet isn't a full-time job, I only need help about 4 hours a month right now.

Your primary job will be to manage my submissions; contacting publications to verify their information (and, since this is poetry, continued existence), preparing poems for mailing, writing cover letters, tracking and filing returns and entering all the data into an Access database to avoid duplication and keep track of results.

Starting rate is $10/hr, but impeccable work will be rewarded with wage increases and/or bonuses.

You will be working from my home, and I have pets.

Job requirements include: Interest in, and preferably experience with, poetry; comfort with a word-processing program (you'll be using MSWord), ability and willingness to learn a database program, 40WPM+ typing speed, excellent written English and proofreading skills, extreme attention to detail, an orderly mind.

While I will consider with enthusiasm any and all responses, this position is ideal for the candidate who is:

- *Returning to office environments and wants to ease comfortably back into office work
- *Currently working in the admin or literary world and wants a bit of extra work
- *Wanting a refresher or an introduction to database work
- *Looking for experience in the business end of the literary world
- *A writer wanting to learn more about organising and tracking writing submissions

This is essentially a clerical position, with some research and evaluation of work. It's not an editing position. My hope is that once I've shown you how to use the database and shown you examples of what's been done, you will be able to take over without too much supervision.

Please reply with a resume IN THE BODY OF THE EMAIL - I will not be opening attachments. Also, I won't be responding to submissions without phone numbers.

Thanks for taking the time to read this. And about your potential employer, Gabriel Garcia Marquez has this to say:

There is no-one with more common sense
No stonecutter more obstinate
No manager more lucid and dangerous
Than a poet.
